Tell us about your Over this past holiday week of the fourth of July (July 4,2019) experience my wife and kids and I were leaving my mothers fourth of July celebration headed to my fathers home less than a mile away. When we arrived in front of my fathers home a female officer approached the vehicle. The officer shouted, " didn't you see the Caucasian Officer and soon as that statement was made that Officer approached me aggressively and told me to get out of his traffic stop before I get arrested and pushed me all at the same time. I responded to him that he has no right to touch me and I don't want to be touch. I felt I was being harrassed and threatened because I was questioning their motives behind the traffic stop. I seen and experienced racial profiling and that scene was a typical case of profiling.

Tell us about your experience I was notified that my son was being unlawfully detained I went to the location in front of his Father's house to get details. I approached the scene an African American Officer asked me to come towards him. I did as he asked. I asked questions regarding my son arrested and he stated he didn't know asked me with my lights?" I (Davis Martin) responded by saying yes I saw the lights but I knew the sirens weren't for me and my family because we had done nothing wrong. The female officer asked for vehicle documentation along with license and car insurance. We gave the documentation to her as another officer(male) approached. He said how old are those kids? My wife and I still in shock didn't respond due to the fact we were calming our children down. The male officer then stated " how old are those kids?" My wife and I looked at the male officer asking him what is this all about? The male officer then says, all right come on lets go get out of the car. The male officer is now reaching inside of the driver side window which had been rolled down previously while speaking to the female officer. As the male officer is attempting to open our vehicle door my children start screaming uncontrollably. The male officer has now opened my vehicle door without my consent and begins to pull me aggressively from my seat. I then say to the male officer I'm still in my seat belt. Another male officer is standing to initial male officers right side and gives my wife the OK to undo my seatbelt. Once my wife takes my seatbelt off the initial male officer begins to scream stop resisting, stop resisting, someone get your taser out. He then attempts to grab the taser out of the second male officers hand who gave my wife the OK to undo my seatbelt. I wasn't resisting the officer but complied with them during the entire incident. My children were in their seatbelts, my documentation for my vehicle were given to the initial female officer and verified, my lights work properly, I wasn't fleeing anywhere but merely driving the speed limit from one celebration to another, and I was falsely detained in front of my family on the fourth of July. It was very sad because my wife and I both come from families with strong military backgrounds and to have our family falsely pulled over and to be detained falsely and to have been aggressively handcuffed and threatened with being tasered has deeply hurt our family emotionally.

On Nov 21, 2019, I was on my way back from Steele, Mo. when I got a call from my wife. She said that Cory had been in a wreck in front of pizza inn. I told her I was on my way. When I arrived at the scene, I saw Cory and my wife, I walked over to her and asked her what happened. Cory then explained to me what had took place. I then went to my truck, which was in the accident, and got the insurance papers out. Then walked over to Cory and gave him the papers. When Cory came back to where I was, he said that police officer told him that he couldn't drive the truck because he got a whiff of something. Cory then said he told the policeman that he didn't drink or do drugs and was willing to take any test to prove that. Then the police officer then told him he wasn't going there. So, I told Cory that I would go talk to the officer. I walked over to the ~~other~~ police car and asked him if I could talk to him. The officer then asked about what. I asked him why did he say that my stepson couldn't drive the truck when he was not drinking. That's when he told me to back up forcefully. I stepped back about a half a step and then he put his hands on my chest and said I told you to back up and said that I was in his space. I told him I'm not ~~here~~ here for a confrontation. That's when he said there's not going to be any either, and then pushed me back again. I then apologized to him again and explained to the officer that I just wanted

I wanted to know why he can't drive. He said that he has been a officer for 5 yrs and that he wrote a lot of DWI's and then told that he knows if someone is drinking or not. I told him to do a sobriety test and he said he wasn't going there. I then apologized again if he thought I was being rude and walked away.

The officer did not take any witness statements from the people that witnessed the accident and also witnessed the officer push me. The officer that was on the scene, that was helping with the accident can not back up the officer on why he was pushing me because the witness and I both was staring at the officer directing traffic.

STATEMENT OF

ACTS I, Tamara Jones was pulled over on Division. As waiting for my name to be ran by officer Tiler, he comes to the car. As he comes to the car, he immediately starts to ask me questions & in the midst of me answering, he states to me "I'm a liar, he doesn't wanna talk or deal with me anymore". He then states to the other officer (Manning) that he can talk to me. So he goes back to his car. As he gets out the car again, he begins to ask me more questions. As I give him answers, he calls me a liar again & then proceeds to snatch my phone out of my hand and grabs me by my jacket. I feel like this behavior was unacceptable. He literally treated me like a piece of trash on the bottom of his shoe.
